THE SILVER CONVENTION AT ST. LOUIS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28, 1899.

To the Editor of the Silver Dollar:

On the 26th of July last the Post-Dispatch, of St. Louis, published my suggestion for holding a silver convention in St. Louis in October. The following day several reporters of that enterprising daily interviewed the leading men, and within a week after the different exchanges held meetings and resolved to aid the "National Silver Convention" financially as well as otherwise.

A. Singer, Esq., the secretary of the St. Louis Mining Stock Exchange, is also the secretary of the National Silver Convention.

The committees are all appointed, and they are: Call and Address, James Campbell, chairman; Invitation, Edward Whitaker; Arrangements, Jules D. Ables; Transportation, L. A. Coquard; Entertainment, J. J. Mullaly; Finance, A. J. Wells; Hotels, John Mulford; Press and Press Correspondence, E. A. Elliott; Reception, Hon. D. R. Francis, chairman. The list of members who have been selected to serve on these committees are 148 of the leading business men of St. Louis.

Thus it will be seen that success is now assured, and that after all our exertions our work will be crowned and a convention be held in St. Louis before Congress meets.

Let us, the true friends of silver, stand together, exchange views, and devise ways and means to battle with the gold monopolists who are so united and uniting to assail our interests in and out of Congress.

The papers of the silver producing regions have so far, with the exception of the Salt Lake Daily Tribune, all been anxious and willing to give a helping hand to this laudable object.

To the smelter-bankers and bullion dealers this St. Louis Silver Convention means death. As soon as the free and unlimited coinage bill is passed, the miners will take their bullion to the United States mints and assay office and obtain full value, $1.29 per ounce fine. To-day the mints are closed to them and they must sell their silver to the smelters, who are usually bankers at the same time, at the London market rate less five per cent. These smelter-bankers are the representatives of the New York and London bullion dealers, and on the $59,000,000 worth of silver produced in this country a rebate of five per cent is $2,950,000 net profit to these rascals who have been sucking the life-blood of the miners.

Let the miners remember their friends and keep an eye on their enemies, the wolves in sheep's clothing. This time we shall profit by the treason of April 8, 1886, and shall put none but true friends of silver on guard; in fact, we ought to be truly thankful for the imprudence of our enemies who have shown their hands so early in the fight. Forewarned is forearmed and we shall henceforth know the true friends of the miners from their enemies—the wolves in sheep's clothing, the representatives of the smelter-bankers and the bullion dealers.

Wished Her Spouse Would Die.

Special to the Journal.

Boston, Oct. 11.—The suit of Rev. W. K. Campbell, pastor of the Highland Congregational Church in Roxbury, for divorce from his wife, was heard by Judge Bishop this morning. Rev. Mr. Campbell was the principal witness in his own behalf. The wife did not appear. She was a Miss Minnie Scott, daughter of a prominent St. Louis merchant. Soon after the birth of a daughter she left her husband, going to her former home in St. Louis and taking the child with her. Letters were read in evidence in which she declared positively that she would never return to her husband. She gave no reason for her conduct, except that the life of a clergyman's wife was distasteful to her. Mrs. Campbell with her child later went to Russia as a teacher in the Royal family. She is now back in St. Louis. Rev. Dr. E. Dunning was called as a witness and testified that he heard Mrs. Campbell express the hope that her reverend spouse "would prematurely go to glory." Decision was reserved.

Colored Confidence Sharpe.

Special to the Journal.

SUMMERVILLE, Ga., Oct. 10.—Edward Bollings, living on a farm near here, has been swindled out of $300 by two clever molatto confidence men. The latter came here two weeks ago and claimed to be looking for buried treasure. They said they were Creeks from Indian Territory. One of them had an old chart with the spot where the alleged treasure was buried plainly marked, and this spot proved to be on Bollings' farm. The swindlers produced many documents to prove that $3,000 worth of silver in bars was buried there six feet under ground. They professed to believe the State would not let them keep the treasure, and offered to sell the claim for $300. Bollings gave them that sum, and as they disappeared he commenced digging. The deluded farmer, after sinking a hole twenty feet deep, has just come to the conclusion that he has been victimized.

Mother and Three Children Roasted.

Special to the Journal.

BRADFORD, Pa., Oct. 11.—At Davis Switch, a small village 13 miles from here, the dwelling of Patrick Dailey was burned to-day. The fire resulted from the exploding of natural gas, used in cooking. Dailey's wife and three sons, aged 13, 11 and 9 years, respectively, were roasted in the flames. Dailey was severely burned, and is nearly crazed with grief.

Charge His Captain With Cruelty.

Special to the Journal.

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 11.—The British schooner Waddian, hailing from Parrboro, N. S., Captain Wood, was libeled and seized here to-day by Deputy United States Marshal Hathaway and placed in charge of a keeper. The seizure was made a complaint of Thomas P. Kennedy, a Liverpool seaman, who alleges cruel treatment by the Captain, lack of suitable provision and arrears of wages due. The schooner arrived September 22, from Bon Air, with salt. Kennedy says that during a gale off the West Indies, he fell from aloft and severely injured his leg; that the Captain refused him medicine and made him stand at the wheel during all that night and twenty out of every twenty-four hours during the passage; that they had no provisions suitable to eat, and that on arriving he and three others were refused their pay. The case was taken up by the British Vice Consul, Mr. Star.

A Frisky Drunk.

Special to the Journal.

HAYSTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 11.—The sensational story sent out from here as to the attempted assassination of Mayor Milburn was based on some reckless shooting done by a brother of Sheriff Shankey, who was "painting the town." Thomas Shankey went to the Mayor's office to pay a friendly visit. He had been imbibing "red-eye" pretty freely, and in true cowboy style whipped out a revolver to shoot a mosquito that was buzzing around a gas-gel. He missed the mosquito, but put out the gas-light. A second shot bored a hole through the wall but did no further damage. Shankey insists that there was no intention on his part to hurt or frighten the Mayor, and the latter believes him.

A Fool and His Pistol.

Special to the Journal.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 11.—A Chesapeake & Ohio shifting engine ran out on a siding at Nuttallburg yesterday afternoon, and the foreman, Wm. Layton, being idle until the arrival of the freight train, which was expected in about half an hour, took a revolver from the cab and began shooting at a telegraph pole. Engineer George Siselo chuffed Layton about his poor marksmanship, and the latter said he could put a bullet through the engineer's hat. Siselo, who was leaning out of the cab window, laughing told him to go ahead and try it. Layton raised his pistol and fired. The ball struck Siselo in the head, killing him. Layton is almost crazed from the result of his rashness.

Liked His Booze the Best.

Special to the Journal.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Oct. 11.—James S. Kelly, of Fiekhil, who for the past two years has been employed at the Middletown hat works, committed suicide last night at the Elkhorn Hotel, Middletown, by taking "prussic acid." He left this message written on his collar:

Carris, you are to blame for what I have done. Please forgive poor Jim.

Kelly had been keeping company with Carrie Grant, an employee of the Purdy Hotel. She had refused to marry him because he would not quit drinking, and he took his life on her account.

A Young Blood's Escape.

Special to the Journal.

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 11.—George Chaswell, one of the wealthiest residents of Hartford, Conn., was taken East to-day by his uncle, who has been searching for him in different parts of the country for some time. Six months ago the young man appropriated $90,000 in unregistered United States bonds, belonging to his father, and left Hartford under an assumed name, bent on having a good time. Eighty thousand dollars in bonds and $500 in coin were recovered by his relative to-day.

The Czar and the Emperor Clank Glasses.

Special to the Journal.

BERLIN, Oct. 11.—Emperor William attended a dejeuner at the Russian Embassy in honor of the Czar. In the afternoon the Czar drove out in an open carriage surrounded by cavalry, and visited Empress Augusta and Empress Frederick. He afterwards received Prince Bismarck, who remained in conference with him for four hours. A dinner was given this evening at Schloss in honor of the Czar, and the two monarchs drank to each other's health, with friendly sentiments.

The Conclave Ended.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The Knights have broken ranks. Thousands went to Mount Vernon to-day, while other thousands were scattered through the city. The Grand Encampment to-day suspended Eminent Commander Olcott, of the District of Columbia, for a year, for having illegally knighted Wm. Oscar Rolins.

A banquet was given this evening by the local committee in honor of the members of the Grand Encampment.

The Chances of the Several Candidates in the Race for the Speakership.

What the Majority Rule?

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.—"Yes, the minority can practically rule the House this winter, in spite of fate, and I have no doubt that it will rule," said General Tom Brown of Indiana, while discussing this afternoon the announcement by Chairman Mills that the Democrats do not intend to permit the adoption of a new set of rules by which the Republicans can do as they please. General Brown is one of the oldest and most influential Republicans in the House, and his prognostications generally hold good. He continued: "Under the most common parliamentary rules, the constitutional, inherent parliamentary rules, which must stand under all conditions, the minority, if mean enough, can almost prevent the majority from doing anything, and especially in this true season on the Republican side. Philibustering will be easy. Motions to adjourn will always be in order, you know, no matter what the rules are, and the minority can at all times demand a quorum. I do not believe it will be possible for us to adopt a set of rules which will give us supreme power. No party has ever done it, and I don't believe we can now. The majority will be at the mercy of the minority, and if we accomplish anything it will be by sufferance. I am certainly in favor of making the best efforts we can to get rules which will enable the majority to control and accomplish legislation, and at the same time by best sense, based on experience, tell me it is next to an impossibility. I anticipate, as Mills, Oates, Eynum and other Democrats have announced, that there will be a long fight over the adoption of a set of rules. It will likely result in a compromise which will leave the majority practically in the hands of the minority. I am in favor of the majority ruling if it consumes the entire session to establish majority rights. We must start out right if we expect to accomplish anything."

BURROWS' FRIENDS CONFIDENT.

Friends of Representative Burrows, of Michigan, are feeling quite well over the chances of their candidate for the Speakership.

It is claimed that the elections in the new States last week added just five votes to Mr. Burrows' strength. During the past summer Mr. Burrows made a tour of the Pacific Northwest. In Washington he was called upon by the newly elected Congressman, whose friends assured the Michigan man that in the event of Republican success they would give him a vote for speaker. At Helena Mr. Burrows was entertained at the home of Mr. Carter, who ran away ahead of his ticket and will be the first Congressman from the State of Montana.

He has had Montana's support ever since he worked so hard for Statehood for them in the Forty-seventh Congress, eight years ago, when he was Chairman of the Committee on Territories. In fact Mr. Burrows was one of the first advocates for Statehood for what are now the four new States, and this fact gives his friends a great deal of confidence. If his friends should prove true it is claimed that Mr. Burrows will get at least twenty-five votes on the first ballot, and if he can hold them his chances for the Speakership are bright indeed. No one claims he will easily develop anything like the strength of either Reed or McKinley. It is claimed, and with good reason, that he will hold the balance of power. It frequently occurs under such circumstances that the third man is chosen.

THE CANNON MEN.

Representative Hopkins, of Aurora, Ill., is here and says the Republican members of the delegation from his State are deeply in earnest and very solid in their support of Mr. Cannon for the Speakership.

He said to-day that it required earnestness and perseverance in order to bring about success in any direction, and that the supporters of Mr. Cannon were not really hearted by any means, and that they really believe success is likely to crown their efforts. "If solidly in numbers and firmness of purpose mean anything," said Mr. Hopkins, "and if it is to be rewarded, the Illinois candidate ought to be successful."

Mysterious Disappearance.

Special to the Journal.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 11.—Richard A. Webb, of West Springfield, an employee of the Agawam Manufacturing Company, has disappeared in a manner that leads his friends to believe he has been foully dealt with. He left here last midnight on a bicycle for his home. His way lies across N End Bridge, a half-mile iron structure that spans the Connecticut river, about a quarter of a mile north of Hampden Park. He never reached home.

Early this morning a West Springfield vegetable dealer, while crossing the bridge, noticed a bicycle standing against the north side braces. Close beside it was a bundle wrapped in paper containing a rubber coat and a pair of rubber boots, on the paper were the words "Richard Webb, West Springfield." On the bridge flooring, near by, lay a derby hat badly dented, as though by a heavy blow. Young Webb had considerable money with him and the police think he was waylaid on the bridge, robbed, murdered and thrown into the river.

Sunol Must Try Again.

Special to the Journal.

TERRA HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 11.—A great throng of people witnessed the attempt of Axtell to beat the 3-year-old record of 2:13½, made by the California filly Sunol. George Starr was behind Father John as a helper. At the second attempt they got away. The quarter was reached in thirty-three seconds, the half in 1:05½, and the crowd watched him anxiously, believing his driver had made the pace too fast. At the three-quarter post 32½ was the gait, and without a falter or a false stroke he finished the mile in 3:12, reducing the 3-year-old record by 1½ seconds, also reducing the record for stallions of all ages. When time was announced the excited and yelling crowd surged on the track, and, selling Jockey Williams, bore him off in triumph. The Judges' watches all agreed exactly. The track is seven feet over a mile by official survey.

Belle Hamlin Beats Harry Wilkes.

Special to the Journal.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The great trotting match to-day at Fleetwood Park, between Harry Wilkes and Belle Hamlin, brought out the largest crowd seen on the track in years. Harry Wilkes took the lead in the first heat, but going into the back stretch the mare shot out like an arrow, and all the way around the stretch they were nearly nose and nose. The whip was used on Harry Wilkes frequently, but the mare won easily. Time, 2:16½. In the second heat the mare led by nearly a length to the quarter, but between there and the half Harry Wilkes lessened the space between himself and the mare. Coming up the hill it was neck and neck. Andrew let the mare out, and she won the heat and race in a jog. Time 2:19½. Wilkes was under the whip in the finish.
